

New York State Sex Offender Registry Information

New York State has created a Sex Offender Registry in accordance with the Sex Offender Registry Act (SORA).

There are several ways to obtain information about sex offenders living in your neighborhood.

- You can call 1-800-262-3257 to determine if someone is on the Registry. You will need the name of the offender and one of the following: an exact address, a complete date of birth, a driver's license number or a social security number.
- You can access the Subdirectory of Level 3 Sex Offenders from the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services by clicking on the following web site link:

http://criminaljustice.state.ny.us/nsor/search_index.htm

This web site contains a sub-directory that allows you to search for level 3 sex offenders. In order to obtain the information, you must type your demographic information into the form (first name, last name, address, city, and zip code). You also have to click on the "Yes" radio button to indicate that you have read the disclaimer.

Once you have clicked on the disclaimer and entered your information, you will be taken to a search page. At this page you can search for level 3 offenders by name, zip code or county.
