

Vail Farm Family Newsletter

October

The year has gotten off to a wonderful start! Students are becoming acclimated to their new learning spaces. Mrs. Khare visited all Kindergarten classrooms to read the book One by Kathryn Otoshi. During these visits we discussed our Vail Farm pledge that we recite every morning and what it means to “Be the ONE.” Each student wrote their name on a colored paper strip and we created a class chain that we will then add to our school chain in the Library. Mr. Setaro has been working with grade levels on community building within the classroom and ways to involve our families in their student’s learning. In addition, as a building we have practiced safety drills such as fire drill, lockdown and bus drill.

On Friday, September 27 we held our first School Meeting of the year where we learned how we are all part of the Vail Farm school community no matter what role we have. We are alike. We are different. We are ONE. Everyone makes our school community. We will continue to gather as a school community each month to learn about differences among us.

Together...we are ALL Vail Farm Falcons!
