

Dear Fourth Grade Student and Family,

I hope you are as excited as I am to learn together in this upcoming, new school year. We will learn a lot of A-May-zing things. We will be reading some really cool stories, writing long pieces, and learning how to multiply and divide to name a few. It's so exciting to think of all the things we will do.

To make yourself ready you can read every day. Imagine you are the main character and are in a whole different world. Find the time to play outdoors and have fun in the sun. If you go on a vacation, bring a journal and write what you did every day so you can remember. I actually use my phone or laptop to do this. You can use your chromebook and make a document diary. Or, just write in a marble notebook. It would be fun to share our journals when we get back in September. If you want to bring in a box of tissues for the class to share that would be great!

Remember there are no limits to your creativity! I can't wait to meet you and work with you to show you your true potential! Enjoy the rest of your summer. Remember you can escape boredom by reading a good book!
