

Title I Parent Information

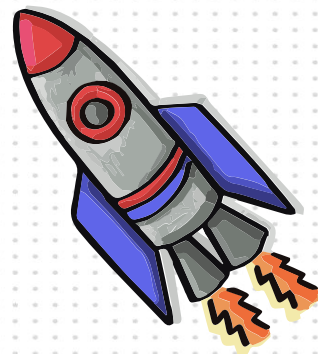

Arthur S. May School
2023-2024

What is Title I?

Title I is financial assistance given to local educational agencies (school districts) for children from low-income families to help ensure that all children meet challenging state academic standards.

In Arlington, these funds are allocated to qualifying buildings. The funds are used to supplement the salaries of one academic intervention teacher in each building. Despite a child's socio-economic status, the records of those students who receive support from these specific teachers are subject to review by the state. Due to the possibility of review, specific requirements must be met by the school and teacher.

Language Arts Support/ Math Support -

-  Students who received Academic Intervention Services (AIS) during the last school year, will continue to receive AIS services this year, if they qualify. Formal notification for services will be sent to parents/guardians at the beginning of the year.
-  New students who enter the program will be identified for support by guidelines developed by the state and the school district.
-  AIS providers implement an intensive instructional program to help students develop strong reading/comprehension or math skills.
-  Progress reports are sent out 3x a year concurrent with classroom report cards. Midterm reports, at approximately the five week mark are also sent home.
-  If a student is making adequate progress he/she may be dismissed from the program. We will continue to monitor his/her progress and if deemed as necessary, he/she will be picked up for support again.

Parent Engagement

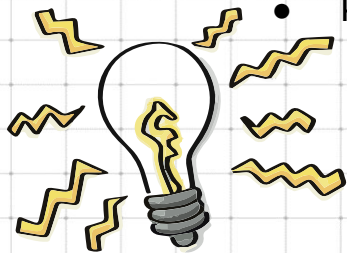

The school-parent-community partnership is vital to the improvement of student achievement. To that end, Title 1 schools must communicate regularly with their community members.

Included on the school's website are the following documents:

- Right to Know Notification
- Parent Involvement Policy
- Parent-Student-School Compact

Our parent involvement programs during the school year include:

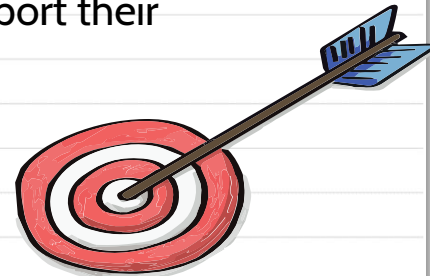

- Title 1 Parent Meeting - (this slide show)
- School-wide Read - One School, One Book
- Parent Education - supporting your child's academic and social emotional growth

How can parents be involved?

Parents/guardians can be involved in their child(ren)'s learning and the school community by:

- Reading the weekly ASM News slides and discussing the contents with your child(ren)
- Meeting with your child's teacher(s) to discuss your child's school experience (social-emotional, behavioral and academic) and ways we can support their growth
- Becoming a member of the PTA and participating in meetings & PTA sponsored events
- Encouraging your child to try new things and persevere, even if An activity/task is difficult
- Reading and/or discussing books EACH day with your child
